The second workshop was on Energy Technology. It began with a presentation by the Director General of the Ministry of Energy, Mr. M. A. El-Sayed, who outlined the country's energy strategy and the role of the government in the energy sector. He emphasized the need for a sustainable energy policy that takes into account the country's economic and social development. The workshop then discussed the challenges facing the energy sector, such as the need for investment in infrastructure, the need for a regulatory framework, and the need for a skilled workforce. The workshop concluded with a discussion on the role of the private sector in the energy sector and the need for a supportive policy environment.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE LEGALITY OF THE NEW UNIFIED BOARDS OF POTC, PHILCOMSAT AND PHC

It is a well-known fact that Enrique "Tata" Locsin claimed that Senator Ferdinand Aguirre VST, Democratic Presidential Senate Committee Chairman Bernardino Alonzo and Vice-Secretary Enrique H. Ponce of the Office of the President illegally installed government nominees to the Boards of Directors of the Philippine Overseas Telecommunications Corporation (POTC) and the Philippine Communications Satellite Corporation (Philcomsat). Yet, these public officials were only fulfilling the President's mandate.

ENRIQUE LOCOSIN, CONCEPCION "TATA" PORLADOR AND PHILIP BRODETT ARE DECEIVING THE BANKS, THE COURTS AND THE PUBLIC:

- To keep themselves illegally entrenched in the boards of POTC, Philcomsat and Philcomsat Holdings Corporation (PHC).
- By claiming they are still Directors/Officers of the Philcomsat Group of Companies.

These are the TRUE, LEGITIMATE, and GOVERNMENT-BACKED
Boards of Directors of POTC, PHILCOMSAT, and PHC:

Bishops split on quit call but united on demand for truth

Manila, Philippines — The Philippine bishops are split on whether to call for the resignation of President Ferdinand Marcos but are united in demanding a truth commission to investigate the human rights abuses during his 21-year rule.

The bishops' conference, which met in Manila for its 10th annual assembly, ended on Tuesday with a resolution that calls for a "truth commission" to be established to investigate the human rights abuses during the Marcos regime.

The resolution also calls for the government to "take concrete steps to ensure the accountability of those who have committed human rights violations."

However, the bishops are divided on whether to call for the resignation of President Marcos. Some bishops, including the influential Archbishop of Manila, Cardinal Jaime Sin, have called for Marcos to resign. Others, however, have argued that the bishops should focus on the demand for a truth commission and the accountability of human rights violators.

The bishops' conference also discussed the issue of the 1986 People Power Revolution and the role of the Catholic Church in the process. The resolution states that the Church should continue to promote peace and reconciliation in the Philippines.

The bishops' conference is the highest authority of the Philippine Catholic Church. It is composed of 19 bishops from the Philippines and 10 bishops from other countries.

Lozada scoffs at former 'super alalay' charges

Manila, Philippines — Former President Corason Lozada scoffed at charges that he was a "super alalay" (super ally) of the Marcos regime during his tenure as governor of Iloilo from 1975 to 1983.

Lozada, who is currently a member of the Philippine House of Representatives, said that the charges were "baseless" and "unfair."

He said that he was a "loyal citizen" and that he had always supported the government. He said that he had never been involved in any illegal activities during his tenure as governor.

Lozada also said that he was a "victim" of the Marcos regime. He said that he had been forced to support the regime because of the threat of violence against him and his family.

The charges against Lozada were part of a larger investigation into the human rights abuses during the Marcos regime. The investigation is being conducted by a truth commission established by the Philippine House of Representatives.

Wet ones: 'Living witness' on government TV accuses Lozada

Manila, Philippines — A "living witness" to the human rights abuses during the Marcos regime accused former President Corason Lozada of being a "super alalay" (super ally) of the regime.

The witness, who is a former political prisoner, appeared on government television to give his testimony. He said that he had been involved in the human rights abuses during the Marcos regime and that he had seen Lozada involved in the same.

The witness said that Lozada was a "loyal supporter" of the Marcos regime and that he had been involved in the human rights abuses during his tenure as governor of Iloilo.

The witness also said that he had seen Lozada involved in the human rights abuses during his tenure as a member of the Philippine House of Representatives.

The witness's testimony is part of a larger investigation into the human rights abuses during the Marcos regime. The investigation is being conducted by a truth commission established by the Philippine House of Representatives.

PNP warns cops: Join protests, you'll be fired

Manila, Philippines — The Philippine National Police (PNP) has warned its officers that joining protests or demonstrations will result in their dismissal.

The PNP chief, General Romeo Brawley, said that the police are a "neutral force" and that they should not be involved in political activities.

He said that the police should focus on maintaining law and order and that they should not be involved in protests or demonstrations.

The PNP has been facing criticism for its role in the human rights abuses during the Marcos regime. The police have been accused of being involved in the same.

The PNP has also been facing criticism for its role in the 1986 People Power Revolution. The police have been accused of being involved in the same.

The PNP has been trying to rebuild its reputation and to gain the trust of the people. The PNP has been conducting various programs to improve its image and to gain the trust of the people.

Lakers shade Suns

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (UPI) — Kobe Bryant and Shaquille O'Neal led the Los Angeles Lakers to a 107-95 victory over the Phoenix Suns on Tuesday night.

Bryant scored 31 points, including a career-high 15 three-pointers, and O'Neal added 25 points and 15 rebounds. The Lakers' defense was also stellar, holding the Suns to just 40% shooting from the field.

The victory gives the Lakers a 2-1 lead in the Western Conference semifinals. They will face the San Antonio Spurs in the next round.

Phoenix coach Mike D'Antoni said his team was "out of sync" and "didn't play well enough to win." He praised his players' effort but admitted they were "out of control" on the defensive end.

The Suns' offense struggled throughout the game, with only Steve Nash leading the team with 18 points. The team's defense was also plagued by turnovers and missed shots.

going to award and when the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences will announce the winners.

There's also a lot of buzz about the new Oscar statuette, which is being redesigned to look more like a modern award.

The Academy will also be celebrating its 80th anniversary with a special ceremony and a new logo.

And, of course, there's the big question: Who will win the Best Picture Oscar this year?

With so many great films, it's hard to pick just one. But the Academy will be making its decision soon.

So get ready to celebrate the best of the industry at the 80th Academy Awards.
